Ed Langston

Ed Langston was born in Pampas, Texas in 1947, moving to Wichita at age 5. He attended Wichita State University and majored in graphic design and then sculpture. Bernie's Bird was inspired by Senator Bernie Sanders and is a very stylized, conceptual version of a bird from one angle and a flame from the opposite angle. Ed's work frequently reflects his love for nature and the natural environment. "Art and life are both mysteries unfolding; full of surprises with some disappointments. The good pieces have a life of their own and when that happens, I know art lives, and art gives." Bernie's Bird was crafted from stainless steel and uses Kevlar to hold the pieces together in place of the usual technique of welding the pieces together. The individual pieces of the work are cutout from a computer controlled waterjet cutter.
